GOLD PRODUCERS MEET IN TONOPAH MONDAY

Gen. Hakeley Wells, president of the American Mining congress, and one of the leading mine operators in the United States, will be here Monday morning to conduct the meeting of gold producers at 2 o'clock at Elks hall, called by his telegram received yesterday by Louis D. Gordon, president of the Round Mountain Mining company. It is believed that every mine in Nevada producing gold will be represented at the recommendations of the meeting will have an important bearing on the action of the United States congress. A misunderstanding of the attitude of the gold producers has gained currency through statements alleging that the mine operators were demanding a bonus to protect the industry and enable the companies to continue operating. The facts are that last year mines of the United States produced $56,000,000 gold and the United States mints disposed of gold valued at $1,000,000 for use in the arts, chiefly to manufacturers of jewelry. The price to the buyers did not cover the cost of minting and the trade demands were given all they required. This is where the mine operators stick in a wedge. From official statements on file in Washington it appears that the jewelers, after putting in a few dollars labor on the raw material sell the gold at an average price of $125 an ounce. Producers are willing to continue delivering gold to the mints for the present consideration of about $100 an ounce and will ask the government to levy a charge of, say $19 an ounce for all gold sold for use in the arts. This money would be distributed pro rata among the mine operators to compensate them for increased cost of mining. The tax on jewelry would be a tax on a luxury and the increased cost would not make more than a few cents difference on a ring or bracelet, while it would spell the difference between profit and loss to the operators.

Street Fighting Going On In Berlin and Kapp Government Collapses

(By Associated Press.)
BERLIN, March 18.—Germany has cast off the governmental regime suddenly set up by the reactionary elements, but advisers indicate that she now is facing another extreme peril in the form of waves of bolshevism. Berlin reports say Kapp, the reactionary chancellor and his adherents either have fled the city or contemplate flight. Armed forces of the revolutionary government are leaving Berlin today and the presence of Gustav Noske, minister of defense in the Kapp cabinet, who arrived in Berlin last night by airplane, seem to indicate that constitutional government intends to assume control immediately. Throughout Germany the radical elements in many places have taken over the direction of affairs. Proletarian dictatorships have been established at Dortmund, Gera, Halle, Jena and Gelsenkirchen, according to reports, while in Leipzig workers have driven government troops from the suburbs and were engaged last night in street fighting.
